

Spiral Dynamics programs are presented by the leading experts in the models and theory of Dr. Clare W. Graves.

Christopher Cowan, co-author of Spiral Dynamics: Mastering Values, Leadership and Change

Cowan's emphasis is on making this complex theory practical, applicable, and deliverable to a wide range of groups who are seeking results at the bottom line, the top line, and with the complicated and often overlooked human factors in between.

Christopher Cowan is a Partner in NVC Consulting and for over 20 years has been Director of the National Values Center, an organization which specializes in applications of Spiral Dynamics® (SD) and the work of his late mentor and friend Dr. Clare W. Graves in emergent systems. He served on the Board of Directors of Dunn-Edwards Corp. and has worked for three decades using the framework internationally in private and public corporations, and government and non-government organizations.

SD I™ and SD II™

Spiral Dynamics® Programs and Training in the work of Dr. Clare W. Graves

SD I™ provides participants with a thorough grounding in Spiral Dynamics® and the pioneering work of Dr. Clare W. Graves. SD II™ expands on the underlying Graves theory as well as others that have contributed to the Spiral Dynamics® point of view. This certification gives participants a chance to learn how these models of human nature and change can be applied in real-world settings.

Materials, including reprints and assessments, are provided during the courses. Participants who choose Certification become part of the authorized worldwide SD/Graves network and are eligible to use proprietary assessments and participate in advanced courses, web listings, and collaborative support.
